

Living with Pancreatic Cancer

Linda Wilson is an Australian mother, wife, grandmother and nurse who was diagnosed with pancreatic cancer five years ago. She had surgery, but was devastated when her cancer recurred. While she was given just months to live, she has steadfastly refused to abandon hope. She says, “I don’t consider I am dying from pancreatic cancer, I consider I am living with pancreatic cancer.” This is her story.

Please click on the following video link to view Linda’s story.

